Dear Prof. Polemis,

We greatly appreciate your work as referee during 2016. The Journal of Applied Economics relies on the reports of professionals who have expertise in their fields to evaluate in a fair way the papers that are submitted for publication. The referee process is not merely a screening device. It gives the authors valuable feedback on their research, which can lead to a substantial improvement of the papers.

Our effort to publish original papers that are motivated by concrete applied issues would simply not be possible without the participation of experts like you in the peer review process.

Sincerely,

Mariana Conte Grand
